Some of the chief players in the commission of the offence including the three who could be sending cheques to the Post Office where the account could not have been opened under the existing guidelines have been admitted to anticipatory bail by orders passed by this Court through different Benches of the Court. Those accused are Prem Sah, Shyam Ssundra Singh and the informant Veena Prasad. As regards the petitioner he had done nothing, not even having identified the account holders. He did not even know as to how the accounts were opened in the Post Office. The petitioner had simply prepared a list of beneficiaries after the meeting of the Gram Sabha.
